From the prez:

I was really impressed by the turnout we had at January's meeting. The reason I say that is because it was one of those rare 50-degree Michigan days in January. I also thank you for your vote of confidence in keep me as your President I am proud of this club and the reputation we have built as a group that does not discriminate and welcomes all in to our flock. I have to say that it has been busy as far as the booking for programs they are coming in fast and furious and I do mean that we are going to be busy. We are also trying a new endeavor and that is Plymouth Michigan's Art in the Park it is such a wonderful event and it is tailor made for a group like ours that love to take our birds out into the public. The only catch is we have to be juried in which means they have to like what they see in our application to let us in. I see no reason why not we always make a lasting good impression where ever we go and we would be perfect for their family area. I have no reservations about doing this event because I know what kind of people are in our club and our birds are living works of art, a little loud sometimes but still works of art. You can bet if they accept us we will be busy, I will let you guys know what happens. Also, as soon as I get the commercial starring Celeste's Umbrella Cockatoo Ricky I will also pass that along. 2017 was such a great year and it seems that every year we get called upon to do something we would never expect and impress everyone around. This is because of you those who make up Rainbow Feathers Bird Club and Rescue. You guys make us the success we are, not one person can claim that they are the reason for our success it is truly a group effort. This is why people like us, this is why we leave a good lasting impression on people and this is why we have so much fun in whatever we do. Some groups take themselves way too seriously and lose the fun we roll with whatever is thrown at us and adjust not losing the fun element. That is why we are the success we are and will continue to be. So to the best club in the world with the best members as always, YOU GUYS ROCK!!!!

Your prez
Dave

VOICE OF THE VEEP

What a great meeting we had in January and I too am impressed with the turnout mainly because it was a warm and toasty day for January.

Our annual elections were held and all of our officers were re-elected for another term. I would like to thank everyone for having the confidence in me to re-elect me. Another item that was raised was if our club wanted to submit an application to be exhibitors this summer at the Plymouth MI "Art in the Park." It was decided that we should try, so Tammy is going to fill out paper work and submit it. I do not know how many of you have attended Art in the Park in past years but this event will make the Heritage Festival seem quiet and sleepy. I have gone to the park with my birds early in the morning and simply sat on a perk bench and was overwhelmed by the crush of people. The main reason I'm bringing up that we are trying is that if we are accepted we will need every club member we can get to help us. The festival is going to be on July 13, 14th and 15th with a set-up on July 12. We will let everyone know as soon as we know if they will allow us in.

Your Veep
Steve

Out and About With Pookie

The living conditions in our happy home have become very insufferable. This all started a few years ago when we (the African Greys) opened our hearts and our home to allow Ricky, an Umbrella Cockatoo, to move in with us. We laid out the household rules and regulations to Ricky and until last December, everything has been just fine. Ricky recognized the superior intelligence and status of all of the Greys in our home and maintained his contrite demeanor that has allowed all of the feathered residents to live together in harmony. What occurred in December you ask? Well, please allow me to tell you.

Our club received a call from an advertising agency that had visited our club at the Pet Expo in November; they were inquiring if we had any feathered members that could talk and of course we do. They called in late November and asked if there was a parrot available that could be in a commercial for television. The producers were not sure what type of parrot was needed and they requested the club bring along a selection of members to audition. Therefore, I came with JB because we African Greys are the best talkers. Ricky and Cosmo (a U2 and a Lesser Sulphur Crested) also attended because the producers asked for some choices of different types of parrots. Well, JB and I were awesome. We showed our poise and sophistication with our calm demeanors and intelligent conversation abilities; Ricky however, did not. He was a crazy and wild bird all his feathers puffed up, wings out and screaming like a banshee...the producers loved his animation and antics. Ricky was the parrot that was picked for the part and the producers and the film crew absolutely loved him. Ricky seemed his normal self after the shoot and accepted his part in the commercial quite well.

Then last month we received a registered letter in the mail addressed to Mr. Richard de U2 Parrot Esq. Upon opening the envelope, he found inside his acceptance certificate to the Screen Actors Guild, his SAG membership card and the “Coup de grâce” which was a benefits package for his membership.

Ricky has been insufferable since this happened; he has been demanding his meals be served on fine china plates and will only eat freshly prepared food. He must have music playing in the front room where his cage is and demands head scratches from all companion humans that pass by. I drew the line when he demanded that I pay homage to his stardom by providing him with a stipend from every treat and snack JB or I receive. This cannot stand! Somehow or someday, we are going to have to return Ricky to the planet earth. His ego has become so large it won't fit into the cage that he is in and I refuse to peel his grapes for him.

the
RESCUE RANGERS*
A SUN CONURE IN THE COUNTRY

It was a lazy summer day where all you wanted to do was find a nice spot under a shady tree and sit read or relax in some other way, basically a perfect summer day. On this perfect summer day, you would find the Rangers going out to a place named Carleton and yes, we are in Michigan. As you drove along you could see fields full of corn and soybeans almost glowing in the late August sun as birds play on the breeze. It was a house that was located back in a wooded area where they would find their latest rescue a Sun Conure. Now this poor guy was not abused but because of his noisiness and the kids now becoming interested in other things, (funny how that happens as they get older) he was not getting the attention he needed. So, in this idyllic setting in the woods you could hear this Sun Conure just enjoying life and screaming out the joy of being alive. Well all that screaming was not too much of a joy to the family and he needed to find a new home. It just so happens that the Rangers were well versed in Sun Conures and knew that these brightly colored little birds could hold their own with a Cockatoo. They went into the home and in no time, were on their way with this beautiful little noise machine in tow. Besides being noisy he was also a very sweet little and charming little bird that made his finding a new home a breeze. He was soon adopted by a couple that were also well versed in Sun Conures and his charming personality overshadowed his loudness. All parties were happy and none happier than the Rangers for another bird had found its happy ending and a wonderful forever home. Still there was no time to waste a little breather and they would be off for another adventure but they would proudly answer the call because they are the RESCUE RANGERS!!!!

Stay tuned for our next exciting adventure Goffin in Richmond

IT MUST BE THE WEATHER!

This crazy weather must be having an effect on people because the calls have been very entertaining.

A woman calls and has two Cockatoos that she may or may not want to give up and proceeds to tell me a little more information than I wanted to know. She says they have to stay together because they like to do the Humpty Dumpty. This totally left me baffled until she added but I have never had eggs or babies. OK now I get it!

Another woman calls and tells me she is checking out rescues because she will probably have to turn her bird in. So, I ask what kind she tells me “oh we’ll get to that” and keeps on talking. She tells me the bird comes in a huge cage with lots of toys. The cage was so big she almost couldn’t get it into her car. She rambles, and I do mean rambles, on for 45 minutes until she finally gets to what kind of bird it is. I am now expecting something on the larger size until she tells me it is a Cockatiel. Well we might need a semi for that one!

Another woman calls checking out our rescue making sure we are not some fly by night organization that is going to farm out her bird or not have some weirdo get him, her words not mine. I explain to her how we operate and how the adoption works. After all that she said she did not feel comfortable with us and she was going to try Craig’s List. No weirdos there no sir!

This guy calls and says that he is looking for a larger bird. So, I ask what kind and he says a Macaw and I ask what kind of Macaw that’s when it all went downhill. He then said or a Gray or an Amazon maybe a Cockatoo but nothing small. I want to have a substantial bird. I then ask OK any particular type, (like we would adopt to him anyway) and he says those words that can make me become more than just a little angry “a talking one”. As you can imagine after we hung up he went into the never ever file so he just better keep on looking.

These are the more entertaining calls we get and I know there will be more but you know I am all to willing to share!

RESCUE UPDATE

There were sixteen adoptions last month; we adopted out two Umbrella Cockatoos, two Quakers, seven parakeets, two lovebirds and three Grey's.

We are always in need of foster homes especially for smaller birds but be aware that finding homes and people willing to adopt smaller birds is very difficult so a foster offer could be for a long time

Our thanks go to all our members for your support in the rescue. It is because of your participation in our monthly raffle and your donations of food, cages, toys and money that we are able to accomplish this awesome feat. Thank you one and all and please keep up the great work.

****NOTE*****NOTE*****NOTE****
******

There has been some confusion from the loyal readers of Bird Droppings as to which events they are allowed to bring their own bird(s) to. As a point of reference and for future information please we want everyone to be aware that when you see the line:

*****Our Club Has a Booth at This Event*******

following or “Educational Show” preceding an event listing it means we are attending the event in an official capacity representing our club and rescue. At these events all club members are welcomed to bring their feathered companions with them. Also please note that our space is very limited at some of these events but don’t let this stop you from joining us, we will find a way for you and your birdie buddy to fit in and enjoy the fun.

A REMINDER

Are you watching your bird's figure?

By ZuPreem Staff

Obesity is a common condition in companion birds and occurs when they consume more calories than they can expend over an extended period of time. Lack of flight activity and a diet rich in fatty seeds are common causes of obesity. Your bird could be obese if its body weight exceeds the normal body weight (within normal variation) for its species by 15 percent or more.

Here's how to tell if your bird is overweight

Take a minute to perform a quick home exam. Start by noticing your bird's stance. A wider than normal stance can be a sign of obesity. Next, check for a small roll of fat, a "double chin" visible under the beak. Also, look for small yellow or white fat deposits in the abdomen, along the flanks, inner thighs, upper breast and crop area. Finally, check for any bald patches where feather tracts may have separated due to fat under the skin.

You can also weigh your bird

To do this at home, use an electronic scale that measures in grams, not ounces, to detect small changes. Of course, the best way to be sure is to have your pet weighed and examined by your avian veterinarian.

Health risks associated with obesity

Obesity increases your bird's risk of developing many serious diseases including heart disease, liver disease, fatty tumor formation (lipomas) and respiratory distress during exercise and play. Obesity is also associated with abnormal feathering, egg binding and infertility.

What you can do

If you suspect your bird may be obese, see your veterinarian for a complete and thorough physical examination as well as advice on how to change your bird's diet to a healthier one. Along with more exercise, converting your bird from a seed-based diet to a more nutritionally balanced extruded diet could be the answer. Remember that any weight-loss regimen for your bird should be done with your veterinarian's guidance.

How does your bird weigh in?

The following table expresses approximate normal mature body weights for some bird species in terms of both the average weight and a range of acceptable variances (+/-) from the average.

Species	Average Weight (grams)	Variance (+/- grams)
Scarlet Macaw	1,001	151
Blue & Gold Macaw	1039	102
Military Macaw	925	57
Hyacinth Macaw	1355	95

AVIAN VETERINARIANS

**This is a list of veterinarians who are qualified to treat birds. Meaning, they are able to do diagnostic exams and treatments, not just clip wings and toenails. Rainbow Feathers Bird Club does not endorse a specific doctor, clinic or hospital. This list assists in the search for avian vets. It is not, however, all-inclusive.**
